

The Clod & the Pebble

WILLIAM BLAKE

GEORGE SICHERMAN

Brightly.

“Love seek-eth not It- self to please, nor for it- self hath an- y care, but for an- oth- er gives its ease, and builds a Heaven in Hell’s de- spair.” So sung a lit- tle Clod of Clay, trod- den with the cat- tle’s feet, but a Peb- ble of the brook war- bled out these me- tres meet:
“Love seek- eth on- ly Self to please, to bind an- oth- er to Its de- light, joys in an- oth- er’s loss of ease, and builds a Hell in Heaven’s de- spite.”
